Youth Will Have Voice In World Churches Council

Amsterdam, The Netherlands, Aug. 27 (AP)—Youth will have its say in the pronouncements of the World Council of Churches.

It will have a bigger voice than ever before in the projection of modern religious thinking that will come out of the world council assembly now meeting here, council leaders said today.

Representatives of Christian youth forces are carrying on discussions parallel with those of the older generation. And their opinions will be recognized and included in the council's encyclical to be released next week.

Charles P. Taft, an American Protestant Episcopal lay delegate to the assembly, said: "Their (youth's) views, some of which older people have forgotten, will surely be incorporated into the churches' pronouncements."

Taft said young people are shaping the thinking of the World Council of Churches through the many youth movements in various countries.

Vacationing Couple Return To Discover Cranerines In Home

Porterville, Calif., Aug. 27 (AP)—"This is a vine, homecoming" might have been the remark—it probably wasn't—when Mr. and Mrs. George Strum returned from their month's vacation.

Encountering one end of the living room, and draped over chairs, was a Thompson seedless grapevine which had sneaked its tendrils through a tiny crack and was doing its best to take over the place.

The house had been built on a vineyard site, and Strum said that the plant had been cut but not grubbed out.

It will be now.

"I didn't come back with any feeling that war was imminent."

Dulles flew to Amsterdam last Saturday to attend the assembly of the World Council of Churches.

Group Seeks To Establish A Rump Rule

Doubtful Whether City Parliament Can Stay

By The Associated Press
Communists stormed the Berlin city hall again today and broke up a meeting of the elected, anti-Communist city council while Russian dominated police looked on.

The mob yelled they will come back "again and again." This meant the Communists, beaten in elections, hoped to stop the city government from functioning, force it to abandon the city hall and perhaps set up a rump government in the divided and blockaded city.

The Berlin city hall is in the Russian zone. The Communist tactics, for the second straight day, were reminiscent of the coup in Czechoslovakia last February, when the minority Communists took over that republic. The men who invaded the council chamber demanded that the elected council be replaced by members of labor unions the Communists dominate.

"It is now questionable whether the city parliament will stay here under a situation where the police refuse to grant it protection against the constant danger of being disturbed by a small minority pressure group," said Acting Mayor Ferdinand Friedensburg.

Ernst Reuter, the Socialist who was elected mayor of Berlin but was vetoed by Russia, put it:

"The Communist enclaves who stand in front and debate with us, we don't fear. But behind them stands an aggressive, ruthless and imperialistic Russia, which seeks to force us to our knees. We have said no and will continue to say no as long as we have a single breath in our bodies."

Unidentified Body Found On Bay Shore

Body Decomposed Corpse Discovered Today
The decomposed body of a man was found about 11 a. m. today near the shore of Green Bay, about 14 miles south of Escanaba, by Bill Williams of Bark River, L. I. and Sheriff William E. Miron said a preliminary investigation has failed to reveal the man's identity.

The sheriff and Coroner Kevill Murphy of Escanaba returned to the place of discovery this afternoon to seek further clues that might reveal the man's name. They went equipped with rubber gloves to wear in going through the pockets of the clothing.

"The body was wedged between two logs about 35 feet from the water line and about 40 feet from a side road along the shore," the sheriff reported. "I don't believe the man drowned or the body washed up in the waves."

There was no evidence to show how death had occurred.

The man was about 40 years old and had dark hair.

Williams found the body while he was looking along the shore for a net buoy. How long the body had been there the sheriff was not sure, although he estimated "it was some time" because of the advanced decomposition. There has been no report of anyone missing in this area, the sheriff said.

Officers said the body was clothed in dark trousers and a dark brown suit coat. The body will be brought to Escanaba this afternoon and because of its condition will probably be buried today.

Grain Storage Space Shortage Is Serious

Farmers Face Hundreds Of Millions' Loss
Washington, Aug. 27 (AP)—A serious shortage of grain storage space threatens farmers with the loss of several hundred million dollars in income this year.

The agriculture department estimates the storage shortage at upwards of 1,000,000,000 bushels. It is most acute in the corn belt, where a stupendous crop of 3,500,000,000 bushels of this grain alone is nearing the harvest stage.

Officials said farmers are likely to suffer losses from deterioration of grain and a drop in market prices below levels promised by the government's support program.

A farmer can get the benefit of the support program for grain only if he has it stored safely. This help is in the form of loans and agreements to buy the grain next year.

If he cannot get commercial storage or does not have acceptable facilities on his farm, the grower is out of luck so far as price support aid is concerned.

His only alternative may be to sell his grain on the market at a price below the support level. Some grain experts predict corn will sell from 15 to 25 cents a bushel below the support price of about $1.45 a bushel.

The vastness of the storage problem can be measured by the fact that this year's indicated production of grain is 1,350,000,000 bushels, larger than last year and 1,275,000,000 larger than the average for the past ten years.

Hurricane En Route To Florida, Georgia

Steamships Fleeing Path Of Tropical Storm
Miami, Fla., Aug. 27 (AP)—A Navy hurricane hunter banged its way into the 100-mile-an-hour hurricane about 900 miles east of Miami today and lost radio contact with land.

Storm warning headquarters said the hurricane apparently was continuing its northwesterward course at about 15 miles an hour. While this took it in the general direction of the Florida-Georgia coast, it was emphasized that the storm was still far away and could easily change its course.

Steamships were fleeing the storm's path.

The Russian freighter Petmakis Nomikos, which apparently shouldered some of the fury of the storm, discontinued the disturbance early Thursday.

The Soviet ship made its report at 4:45 a. m. (EST) yesterday and has not been heard from since. Coast Guard officers, however, expressed the belief that the vessel is in no distress.

Warren Might Give Keynote Speech At GOP State Meeting

Detroit, Aug. 27 (AP)—Michigan Republican leaders today were proceeding with plans for a big GOP rally here Sept. 7 as a counter move to President Truman's Labor Day campaign visit to Detroit.

According to tentative arrangements, former Minnesota Governor Harold Stassen will speak at the gathering. Stassen recently was named president of the University of Pennsylvania.

Republican bigwigs have announced that vice-presidential candidate Earl Warren of California will visit Michigan next month to launch the Republican vote drive.

"Late GOP leaders hint that Warren might deliver the keynote address at the Republican state convention here Sept. 25."

Railroads Request Higher Rates For Coal, Coke And Ore

Washington, Aug. 27 (AP)—The railroads asked today for higher freight rates on coal, coke and iron ore. The proposed increases the railroad said would yield $140,000,000 a year on the basis of 1947 traffic.

The carriers asked the Interstate Commerce Commission for a nation-wide rate increase of 25 cents a net ton or 28 cents a gross ton on hard and soft coal and coke. A raise of 20 cents a ton (net or gross) was asked for iron ore in the east and south.

The railroads said the freight rates on coal, coke and iron ore have not kept pace with the rise in rates on other commodities.

Round-the-World Army Duck Sailors Will Try It Again

New York, Aug. 27 (AP)—A breakdown in the Atlantic in their amphibious truck hasn't dampened the Christopher Columbus spirit in Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin F. Carlin, and they say they'll make another start on their projected round-the-world trip.

Safely aboard the Tanker New Jersey, which picked them up after they had drifted for ten days 270 miles east of New York, they are due in Montreal Monday.

Their craft, the "half safe," also was taken aboard the tanker.

A radio message from the Carlins to the Associated Press last night told of bad weather and mechanical trouble on their converted army "duck," but declared they would try the trip again.

Mother Is Finally Convinced Son Dead

Kenvil, N. J., Aug. 27 (AP)—Two years of hope and uncertainty have ended for the mother of a Michigan war veteran.

Mrs. William Stolz is sure now that her son is dead.

Mrs. Stolz left here for her farm home near Saginaw convinced at last that her son, who was reported lost in a submarine in August, 1942.

For two years, Baker had written Mrs. Stolz trying to assure her that he was a former B-29 gunner and had lived all his life in Kenvil.

However, the mother clung to her hope. She insisted Baker looked like her son and that his handwriting resembled Vernon's.

Finally she decided to visit Kenvil. She remained unconvinced even when face to face with Baker—until he showed her his right hand.

Vernon Stolz had a scarred knuckle as the result of a childhood accident. All Baker's knuckles were normal.

Seek To Fix Radio Rights Of Atheists

2-Year-Old FCC Ruling Is Under Fire

Washington, Aug. 27 (AP)—A congressional committee set out today to define the radio rights of a person who wants to deny the existence of God.

Chairman Harness (R-Ind.) of the special house committee investigating the federal communications commission ordered a public hearing next Tuesday. Its purpose: to inquire into a 1946 FCC statement relating to the demands of atheists for radio time to reply to religious broadcasts.

Harness said he was acting on the complaints of radio and religious groups that FCC rulings are so vague that some stations are uncertain whether they can continue to give broadcasting time to divine worship without jeopardizing their licenses.

Harness declared that if the situation "really is having the effect of driving religious programs off the air, then that is an intolerable situation."

The communications act says that when a public controversy is aired, there must be equal opportunity for opposing sides to be heard.

But the FCC has never given a flat "yes" or "no" answer to the right of atheists to demand time for replies to religious programs.

The harness hearing stems from a case in which Robert Harrell Scott of Palo Alto, Calif., asked the commission to revoke the licenses of Stations KQW at San Jose and KFCR at San Francisco. Scott said these stations regularly broadcast religious services, but had refused to give or sell him time for talks on atheism.

Pretender To Spanish Throne Meets Franco

Ruler Has Right To Pick His Successor

San Sebastian, Spain, Aug. 27 (AP)—Militarist informants said today Don Juan, pretender to the Spanish throne, conferred for three hours Wednesday with Francisco Franco. It was the first meeting between the two since the pretender put forward his claim to the throne.

The informants said the conference took place aboard Franco's yacht in the Bay of Biscay, off the French coast. Whether Don Juan's return to the Spanish throne was discussed could not be learned. There was no official report on the meeting and no information as to what they talked about. Franco has the right to name his successor.

The monarchists said Don Juan traveled to the rendezvous aboard a yacht owned by Pedro Galindez, wealthy Bilbao industrialist. They said he was accompanied by his brother Don Jaime, the Duke of Sotomayor, and Julio Danvila, wealthy Madrid monarchist.

There was no official report of the meeting and no information as to what they discussed.

The Spanish throne has been vacant since 1931 when Don Juan's father, King Alfonso XIII, relinquished it. Alfonso died in 1941.

Handwriting Ace Called In Hiss, Chambers Riddle

Washington, Aug. 27 (AP)—The House Un-American Activities committee assigned an investigator today to track down a new report that Alger Hiss and Whittaker Chambers once were interested in the same old farm near Westminster, Md.

Washington, Aug. 27 (AP)—Congressional spy hunters called in a handwriting expert today in their search for a key to the celebrated Hiss-Chambers riddle.

They claimed some success: A sworn statement by ex-Communist Louis Budenz that he always had considered Hiss to be under party discipline.

Hiss, former top-level state department official, has heatedly denied any Red tinge. He called Whittaker Chambers a liar Wednesday for telling the House un-American activities committee that Hiss had a leading part in a pre-war Communist underground here.

Chambers, self-described former courier for the underground, stuck to his story and said it is Hiss who is lying.

The committee summoned the handwriting expert to check the writing of a William Rosen against the signature "William Rasen" on a title transfer of Hiss' old Model A Ford in 1936.

Rosen, 64-year-old native of Austria who runs a valet shop here, testified yesterday at a secret committee meeting. But Rep. McDowell (R-Pa.) said Rosen refused, on constitutional grounds, to answer any questions about the Ford transaction or to say whether he ever had had any Communist affiliation.

Chambers, whom Hiss has acknowledged knowing and befriending under another name, claims Hiss wanted the car to be turned over to some poor Communist organizer.

Prepare For Muggy Weekend, Weather Forecaster Warns

Chicago, Aug. 27 (AP)—A weekend of hot, muggy weather—good for the growing crops but horrible for humans—appeared in prospect for most of the nation today.

TRUE TO FORM

Detroit, Aug. 27 (AP)—Hell and Paradise ran true to form Thursday in Michigan's heat wave.

In Hell (population 100) in Washtenaw county, the temperature was a blazing 96.

In Paradise (population 75) in Chippewa county, it was a comparatively cool 91.

Federal forecasters said they could see no break in the hottest weather of the summer season. They said temperatures, which have ranged in the 90's to above 100 over the heat belt, may drop a few degrees in some areas. But rising humidity has brought even more discomfort to the sweltering millions in the hot zone from the Dakotas to the New England states.

"Hot and humid," was the forecast for most of the heat-stricken states. The mercury headed for daytime marks of between 90 and 100, the same as recorded yesterday over the entire area. But most of the Midwest has had a daily dose of 90 to 100 degree temperatures every day this week.

Generally, federal weather bureau forecasters said, the mercury was around the 100-degree mark.

There is some cool air in northwest Canada, forecasters said, but it is slow in moving across the border. There may be a little movement of the cool masses into northern Minnesota, northern Wisconsin and Upper Michigan, but they will bring only temporary cooling.

The continued hot weather prompted early quitting of work at factories in some cities.

Youth Shoots Self After Accidentally Killing His Brother

San Diego, Aug. 27 (AP)—The story of a grief-stricken youth who shot himself to death after he had accidentally killed his young brother was related today by Deputy Coroner Lloyd Jones.

Jones said the double tragedy, which took the lives of Ronald, 16, and Ralph Earnest, 14, climaxed an all-day hunting trip on Kearny Mesa near Linda Vista, Calif.

Kenneth M. Goetschl, 15, a companion, witnessed the shootings, Jones said.

Jones quoted Goetschl as relating:

Ronald playfully pointed his high-powered rifle at his brother, who was about 100 yards away. The weapon accidentally discharged and the bullet struck the younger brother in the neck. Ronald reloaded the rifle, pushed the barrel into his mouth and pulled the trigger.

"I tried to get the gun away from him (Ronald) when he said he wanted to shoot himself," Jones quoted Goetschl, "but he pushed me away and ran down the road."

Youth Of U.P. To Attend 4-H Show

Thirty-four Upper Peninsula boys and girls will leave this weekend to attend the 33rd annual state 4-H Club show to be held at Michigan State College, it was announced today.

Fred McFadden of Cornell, member of a vegetable judging team, will go from Delta county, according to Mel Nyquist, county 4-H agent.

Dickinson county will be represented by Marilyn Anderson Faye Watson, Jack Calcaterra, Henry Wender; Menominee county by Betty Rhodes, Jean Chapman, Allen Broberg, David Carlson, Dorine Carlson, Marilyn Good, Patsy Flynn and Bob Johnson. Alger and Schoolcraft counties are not represented.

The young people are expected to arrive in East Lansing on Monday, bringing with them 1,500 head of livestock and countless other exhibits which they have worked on. Other exhibit classifications are home economics, canning, handicraft, gardening, flowers, crops, and achievement booths.

Plenty of entertainment has been planned for the week. Two evening programs, featuring talent from WJR and WLS, will be presented on Wednesday and Thursday nights. The 4-H style revue, with girls modeling complete costumes they have made, will be a feature of Thursday evening's program.

The young people will have an opportunity to demonstrate other skills. Special events planned include a plowing contest, sheep shearing contest, archery, and horse handling exhibitions. The show will conclude on Friday, August 31.

U. S. Forest Service Recreation Chief Is Touring U. P. Forest

Ray E. Bassett of Milwaukee, regional chief of recreation for the U. S. Forest Service is spending this week and the one following touring in the Upper Michigan National Forest.

Bassett is working on the Hia-watha and Marquette forests to check recreational development and planning and to see if Forest Service recreational facilities are properly utilized. On the basis of his survey future determination and revision of recreation policies will be made.

No thought has been given, however, to development of additional recreational facilities in the Federal Forests because existing funds are hardly sufficient to maintain present improvements and facilities, George A. Young, recreation officer in the Forest Service, in Upper Michigan, said.

Mother, Daughter Injured in Traffic Crash Near Nahma

Mrs. Roderick H. Watkins and her daughter, Ruth, five, of Winona, Minn., were injured at 5:30 p. m. yesterday in a traffic mishap near Nahma on US-2 when the auto pulling a house trailer driven by Mr. Watkins went out of control and overturned.

A pickup truck pulling a trailer, driven by Robert J. Sloan of Escanaba, rammed into the wrecked vehicles after they overturned. Sloan was given a summons to appear in court on a charge of excessive speed by state police who investigated the accident.

Mrs. Watkins suffered possible rib fractures and cuts and bruises. Her daughter has a lacerated forehead and other face injuries. They were removed to St. Francis hospital for treatment.

No Labor Enslavement

ORGANIZED LABOR is accumulating a substantial war chest to be used in the approaching election campaign for the purpose of defeating congressional candidates who voted for the Taft-Hartley labor act. The Taft-Hartley act has just completed its first year of existence. Any fair-minded individuals, including members of labor unions, must concede that the law has not at all enslaved labor, as the union bosses claimed that it would. It has neither destroyed unionism nor wiped out labor's gains. On the contrary, union membership has actually increased during the first year of the Taft-Hartley law.

The closed shop has been outlawed, but the union shop still remains in plants where the members vote for it. The result is more latitude for the employer in hiring his personnel but the union shop requires workers to join the union. As a result the union dues keep coming into the treasury as they did before.

On the whole, the Taft-Hartley law has proved beneficial to the country as a whole. For one thing, it provides a weapon against nationwide strikes that could strangle the country's economic life. That weapon was used effectively against John L. Lewis during the past year.

Further, the law has helped to flush out Communist leaders of many labor organizations and assisted patriotic union members in ousting a large number of Communists from control of unions.

There is small chance that organized labor, regardless of the extent of its political war chest, will be successful in forcing a repeal of the Taft-Hartley act.

For one thing, even the most bitter opponents of the law have not been able to point out any real injustices to organized labor as a result of the operation of the new labor act.

Put Up Or Shut Up

RUSSIAN DELEGATE A. N. PAVLOV told the United Nations Human Rights Commission recently that life in the United States is a "sordid affair."

American hospitals have "a list of prices like butcher shops," he said, and "Veterans must dig holes in the park to have a place to live."

Inevitably, of course, Delegate Pavlov added that such conditions do not exist in Russia; everything is perfect under the Soviet dictatorship.

The communists, of either the Russian or the American breed, have one great advantage in any ideological debate. They are not bound by reality or truth. They can deal freely with theories, fancies and fabrications when telling how perfect things are in Russia. The Iron Curtain spares them the embarrassment of having to prove their claims.

On the other hand, in their tirades against democracy, no Iron Curtain prevents them from seeing what they want to, no secret police snatches them out of circulation when they become too critical. They can go and come as they please, observe and rant. They have the privilege of acting with bad manners, of employing deception and hypocrisy, and they do all of these things with impunity, knowing that at least their heads won't roll as they would quickly in Russia.

Patriotism and love of country do not blind loyal Americans to the fact that conditions are far from perfect in the United States these days. In some respects they're in a mess. But bad as they are, conditions are still better here than any place in the world. We still have freedom to worship if and as we see fit, freedom to vote with a secret ballot with more than one candidate to choose from, and freedom to criticize. We have other personal freedoms and rights, too, that they've never heard of in Russia and that Dictator Stalin would rather they would not hear of ever.

Democracy is not perfect but it has been improving steadily over the long pull. Even in its present state of imperfection, one can bet safely that it is far better than the present state of communism in Russia.

If conditions were as good in the Soviet as the communists claim, they could win the world to their ideology in short order by simply lifting the Iron Curtain and proving it. Obviously they don't dare let the world see Russia, or they would.

ITU In Hot Water

THE QUESTION of whether the International Typographical Union can continue to insist upon closed shop contracts for their local unions even though the closed shop has been outlawed by the U. S. government will soon be decided in federal court. The outlook is anything but promising for the international union or for the continuance of the ITU strikes in Chicago and Hammond, Ind.

The NLRB has petitioned the federal court to cite the ITU for contempt of court for the union's insistence upon closed shop contracts. Further, the NLRB has asked that the ITU be stopped immediately from giving any further financial support, including strike benefits, to striking printers on the Chicago and Hammond newspapers.

If the court grants the petition, the international union not only will be confronted with prospective heavy fines but the removal of strike benefits would almost certainly break the Chicago strike, which has continued since last November. ITU printers throughout the country are now paying heavy per capita dues to sustain the strike benefits, through the international union.

The closed shop is the sole issue that prevents settlement of the Chicago strike. The principle of wages never has been a major factor in the negotiations.

Last March 27 Federal Judge Luther Swygert at Indianapolis issued a restraining order to force the ITU to abandon its insistence upon a closed shop in violation of federal law. The National Labor Relations Board now contends that the union disobeyed that injunction and has petitioned the court to cite the union for contempt.

The action of the court on the NLRB petition constitutes the most important development in the long history of the printers' union.

Face Treason Trials

DECISION of the U. S. government to prosecute treason charges against the American citizens who served American enemies as Axis Sally and Tokyo Rose in the recent war will meet with general approval in this country.

For a long time after the war had ended it appeared that these women would not be brought to justice in this country. Both of them had previously been arrested and released, one in Italy and the other in Tokyo.

Even conceding that they provided a degree of entertainment for our soldiers overseas, the girls were actively engaged in traitorous conduct against their native land.

That they should finally be brought to justice and required to stand trial for treason will certainly be approved by the servicemen and their wives, whose character Axis Sally and Tokyo Rose sought to impugn.

YOU REALLY NEVER LEAVE
(Cleveland Press)

Usually it's the other way. The hometown boy, or girl, goes out and makes good and forgets all too quickly the unimpressive hamlet that gave them a start in life. "Making good" may include a wide variety of achievements, passive or active, but it usually boils down to getting money and newspaper headlines.

This time it's the town that gets the headlines, and money, by falling heir to about $10,000,000 left by a former woman resident.

We congratulate Perryopolis, Pa., and rejoice in its good fortune. Perryopolis is a coal-mining town of about 1,300 population some 30 miles from Pittsburgh. Probably no prettier or more inspiring than a lot of other coal-mining towns, but in the simple words of its benefactor, the place where "I was born and lived, and where my father and mother lived, and my grandfather and grandmother lived."

Perryopolis has only one lamp post, in the town square. But now, according to Fire Chief Karolick, who is also a grocer and theater owner, the town is going to have plenty of lights, its streets paved, its schools repaired, a library built and its high school equipped with a stadium. Half of the estate of the benefactor, Mrs. Mary Fuller Frazier, specifically is to be used for immediate public improvements and the remainder to be held in trust to maintain them. In the words of one enthusiastic resident, Perryopolis is to become a sort of taxpayers' paradise.

Mrs. Frazier, who died Aug. 6, hadn't lived in Perryopolis for 50 years or more, it was said. Maybe she hadn't, but we suspect her curious will points up a universal truth about small home towns: You really never leave them.

This is the time of year when little boys have an urge to run away. . . and a bigger urge to hurry back home before dark.

YOU AND ME—YOU AND I

It is surprising how many of us avoid saying "you and me" because of a vague notion that teacher taught us that it is wrong. "No, no!" we remember her saying. "You must never say 'you and me' are going." Say, "You and I are going."

Perhaps teacher should have pointed out more clearly that "you and I" create the action, while "you and me" receive the action (are acted upon), thus:

Creating action. You and I are going. She and I have a disagreement. He and I were in the same class.

Receiving action. She gave the book to you and me. They invited her and me. Jane knew him and me when we three were in the same class.

"You and me" then is perfectly proper in the objective case—in receiving the action, or being acted upon.

The other personal pronouns are also commonly confused. These are the correct forms:

Creating action. You and he are going. You and she are going. We and they are going. We girls (boys) are going.

Receiving action. They invited my wife and me. Teacher gave the books to her and

Power Big Issue
In Northwest

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Portland, Ore. — Two hundred miles up the Columbia River from this flourishing city the Army engineers are building a great new power and flood control dam that will cost, when completed, nearly a quarter of a billion dollars. Fittingly, it will be called McNary dam.

The late Senator Charles L. McNary of Oregon, Republican, was minority leader in the Senate through the New Deal years. On the development of hydroelectric power with federal money, McNary always voted with the New Deal.

When he was running as vice presidential candidate with Wendell Willkie in 1940, McNary's strong views on public power were the subject of a joke widely circulated in Oregon. It was said that if Willkie wanted to debate the power issue, taking the private utility side, he could find an able and informed opponent in his running mate.

FAVOR PUBLIC POWER

The vast Columbia River power system is either built or in process of being built. That is a fact which no one can dispute. Almost every politician professes to be in favor of public power. When Gov. Thomas E. Dewey and Harold Stassen toured this state in the primary campaign, they promised to put dams over every housewife's kitchen sink.

But what is to be done with this vast reservoir of power is something else again. This is a question that touches high politics both in government and industry.

Congress created the Bonneville Power Administration to distribute the power generated at Bonneville dam built by the Army engineers. Grand Coulee dam, twice as big, was built by the Bureau of Reclamation. By executive order of President Roosevelt, power from Coulee also was turned over to the Bonneville administration for sale and distribution.

The Bonneville power act provides that the benefits of low-cost power to be passed on to the individual consumer. Voters in a number of communities have banded together, formed utility districts and these districts have voted to acquire the distributing facilities of private companies.

LOWEST POWER RATES

Using Bonneville's cheap power, they have one of the lowest power rates in the country. It is so low that it would be practical to heat homes with it in this mild climate, if the power were available. In view of the acute power shortage, however, nothing is said about the possibilities of house heating.

It is the distribution of power to consumers and the formation of public utility districts which have aroused private interests. Private utility executives do not quarrel with the idea of the government building vast hydro projects. Only government has the resources to build on this scale—Grand Coulee is the largest structure man has ever put together, dwarfing even the Panama Canal.

But the private companies want the right to distribute the power from government dams. That is where the political controversy comes in.

The Bonneville administration has been under attack from various sources with private utilities believed to be the guiding force back of most of these attacks. Henry P. Carstensen, head of the Washington state Grange, denounces Bonneville and argues for a state power authority which would oust the federal government.

WHERE DOES DEWEY STAND?

The private utilities argue that the government should sell its power at the bus bar, which is the engineer's term for the point at which the power leaves the generators and passes onto the high lines. The Idaho Power Co. recently applied for a permit to build a power line across public lands. This is believed to be a move to block a government line from McNary dam when it is completed and thus stop the extension of the Bonneville system.

Where does Dewey stand on this question vital to the Northwest? While he has never said so definitely, it is believed here that he favors taking the government out of the distribution end of the power business.

But if that is to be the policy, then many people here want to know who is to get the benefits of the great government projects. Will they go in larger profits to the utilities instead of power rates to the consumer? The private power executive is likely to answer that the consumer will get protection from state utility commissioners. That, however, is no answer here in the Northwest where the public is well informed on the power issue and aware of the failures of state regulatory bodies.

him. She waved to us girls (boys). The invitation included us and them. Gifts were sent to her and me (him and me; them and me).

The personal pronouns will not confuse you if you place them in two groups: The acting pronouns: I, you, he, she, we, it, they. The acted-upon pronouns: me, you, him, her, us, it, them.

Here is a simple device for dividing the pronouns into their proper groups:

I struck you.
You struck me.
He struck her.
She struck him.
We struck them.
They struck us.

This little diagram will lead you unerringly to the correct usage, for any verb may be substituted for "struck," thus:

I see you.
You think of me.
He likes her.
She dislikes him.
We invited them.
They spoke to us.

Something Must Be Wrong in Paradise

Good Evening

POPULAR SPOT—The Escanaba yacht basin at Ludington Park is one of the most popular spots in town, especially when the mercury starts crowding the 90 degree mark and folks seek the cooling lake breeze.

On the north side of Sand Point the municipal bathing beach is crowded with swimmers while fishermen and boatmen follow their pursuits (and sometimes combine them) at the yacht basin and its adjacent waters. There the temperature is in the tolerable 70's and is conducive to some other activity than panting and complaining.

Admitting that fishing at the yacht basin is not the best to be found on the bay, I am among those who enjoy it nonetheless. It is close to home and offers recreation to many fishermen who cannot travel far for their favorite sport. This includes small boys angling for rock bass, old bucks who like casting for pike or those Escanabans who have a fancy for perch and bullheads.

RECREATION—Some people claim that Escanaba has no swimming beach worth the name, that yacht basin was an error, and the Ludington Park development program is a "dream." Having a justifiable pride in Escanaba, I think the present beach is meeting the need and the new beach will be an improvement; that the yacht basin provides recreation for more people than just yachtsmen; and that Ludington Park is now one of the best for any city of its size in the Middle West and that its development along the original plan is desirable.

Appreciation comes with acquaintance. Some of the severest critics of the park are those who seldom, if ever, use it.

WEED CONTROL—Fishermen and boatmen cuss at the weeds in the yacht basin; the boatmen because the weeds sometimes foul up their propellers and the fishermen because the weeds catch on their fishing gear.

The city is planning an experiment with a chemical weed killer to rid at least a portion of the basin of its subaqueous plants. City Manager Art Aronson said reassuringly that only an experiment is planned and that if it is successful the weed control will be limited to boat channels. "It is not supposed to harm fish life," he added.

The experiment will not be undertaken until it has been approved by the department of conservation, as the law provides.

DUAL INTEREST—Both boatmen and fishermen have an interest in the weed control proposal. For the yacht basin has become more than a parking place for boats although it was originally designed only for that purpose.

A few years after construction work at the basin was completed it was noted that fish were beginning to inhabit those waters. This was coincident with the growth of aquatic plants. Now there are bass, nile, perch and the ubiquitous bullhead there and fishermen are made happier thereby.

C. J. D. Brown of the Institute for Fisheries Research, writing on the subject Water Weeds—Their

INTO THE PAST

Ten Years Ago

Escanaba—Lawrence Hartwig, who has been vacationing at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hartwig, is leaving today for Salem, Ore., where he will be assistant professor of law at the University of Oregon. Mr. Hartwig was located in Ann Arbor this past year, as a member of the faculty of the University of Michigan.

Manistique —Thomas and Fred Orr, Jr., entertained Thursday evening at a dinner at the Ossawinimamee Hotel in honor of their sister, Catherine, whose marriage to Herman D. Curtis took place Friday.

Gladstone —Mrs. A. J. Minnick returned on Thursday morning from Rhinelander following a several days visit with her daughters.

Twenty Years Ago

Escanaba —Mrs. Julius Schemmel and daughters, Penelope and Betty, of Hibbing, Minn., are guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. N. Schemmel.

Manistique —Mr. and Mrs. Jack Herring of Grand Rapids have returned to their home after a week spent as guests at the Larson home, Michigan avenue.

Gladstone —Rev. E. F. Lindquist, pastor of the Swedish Baptist church, left Saturday night for Minneapolis, where he will spend the week. He will return to Gladstone and resume his duties here on Saturday, Sept. 1.

Value and Control, says:

"There is no doubt that aquatic plants are important to good fish production, but there is some question as to just how thick vegetation should be to make conditions ideal for fish life." x x x x

"The removal of weeds from the bays of lakes having large areas of open water is a questionable procedure from the point of view of fish production."

IN DISTRESS—During a recent evening of fishing at the basin my friend and I saw a seagull flapping overhead, its feet dangling, and caught in its feet was a red and white fishing bait. Talking with Allen Tweedy, assistant supervisor for the conservation officer L. C. Brown had made that seagull an object of search all one afternoon. It had been reported to them that the gull with its feet caught in the fish hooks was starving.

Bob Shiner saw the distressed gull at Breezy Point last Sunday night, and it was seen again by a fisherman on the old Merchants dock in Escanaba, who tossed it a couple of perch he had caught. He failed in efforts to capture it and remove the hooks.

NO GRATITUDE —Conservation officers are often called upon to rescue birds and animals in distress. Tweedy recalled the time five or six years ago at Rapid River when fishermen brought a gull to him to remove fish hooks from its mouth.

As soon as Allen released the hooks the bird rewarded him with a painful peck on the hand with its tough bill.

"If I had been alone," Allen confided, "I would have been tempted to wring its neck."

But he didn't, of course, and now he and Brown are trying to rescue another gull in difficulties. The gulls get tangled in the hooks when they dive on the bait, or while they are feeding on fish that has been hooked and escaped to die and float ashore.

Washington (AP)—Memories of a mountaineer:

Uncle Bush Breazeale lived over on a ridge in east Tennessee with his mule named "Mule," and a hound dog he called "Dog."

One day Uncle Bush, who was nearing his allotted span, began to wonder what the preacher would say about him when he died. It bothered Uncle Bush a right smart what the parson would say.

He brooded about it at night as his hound curled around his feet before the fireplace.

Finally, Uncle Bush decided to have a funeral and invite all his friends. He chopped down a walnut tree and hewed out a coffin. He lay down in it occasionally for size until it fit him snugly. Then he was ready.

On a bright, summer day, neighbors rode in for miles around by automobile, horseback and buggy. They brought picnic lunches and spread them on the ground under the oaks, and the elms, and families who hadn't seen each other in years got together for a good time.

And then the hearse came down the mountain trail. The pallbearers lifted out the casket while Uncle Bush stepped down from the driver's seat looking proud and happy.

They banked the casket with flowers and Uncle Bush sat in the seat of honor while the parson preached his funeral.

The preacher said a lot of nice things about Uncle Bush, too, and the old fellow went home contented.

"It was the best funeral I ever went to," he said.

The TVA is grown up now and wears long pants—but there was a time when old Ras Lindemood gave the authority a bad time of it.

Ras' Grandpa came into the hills of East Tennessee about a century ago from North Carolina. The fire burned in the Lindemood fireplace generation after generation.

Then the government decided to build Norris Dam. The TVA wanted to buy the Lindemood farm because it was going to be covered by the backwaters from the dam.

But Ras was stubborn. He wouldn't budge unless the TVA moved his fire with him to a new home in another valley.

And so the TVA moved Ras and his household goods across the hills to a new farm. But they had to move the fire with him.

The sheriff winked and said: "Come into my whisperm' room." Inside were rifles, shotguns, ammunition—and one empty fur jar.

A deputy shuffled through the door in a 100-proof fog. "Jim you drunk up my whiskey," the sheriff accused.

"No I didn't, sheriff." "I reckon you did and you'd better get me another jar."

The deputy was gone for fifteen minutes. He slipped in with a full jar of moonshine under his coat and put it on the table.

"Where'd you say you got this?" demanded the sheriff.

"I got it from that feller I was tellin' you about," the deputy said. "He's right outside there."

"Well, go and throw him in jail," the sheriff said, pouring out a drink. "He knows he's not supposed to have corn likker around here."

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY ROBERT S. ALLEN

Washington.—When Gen. Lucius Clay quits as U. S. commander in Germany, the memoirs he intends to write will be very pungent reading.

He has no present thought of leaving either his job or the Army. Clay intends to stick until relieved by Washington. But he is carefully preparing for the day when he will be free to tell his story.

And when he does, certain high-placed knuckles are due for caustic rapping.

Intimates of the hard-working occupation chief say he is keeping a detailed account, including documents, of what is happening at his end and in Washington. They report Clay is doing this for the express purpose of making his record clear on certain major policies for which he has been widely criticized.

These friends represent Clay as deeply hurt by this criticism. He is taking it in silence because he does not feel this is the time to rap back. But he considers the attacks unfair and, apparently, aimed at making him the goat for policies that backfired and which he opposed but was compelled to initiate.

Chief among these policies are: 1. Introduction of the new U. S. currency in Berlin.

2. Setting up of a new government in Western Germany.

Both projects have been hotly assailed. Foreign affairs experts in the U. S., Britain and France have denounced the measures as needlessly provocative and tactically and economically unsound.

One item in Clay's files is a cable from Secretary of State Marshall ordering him to set up a separate government in Western Germany. Clay got the order after the abortive Moscow conference of foreign ministers.

Clay strongly urged an alternative plan he had worked out with the Russians, and which they had assured him would be agreeable to them. Marshall flatly rejected this plan. Clay was ordered to put the state department's plan into effect.

This plan is credited with being the root cause of the siege of Berlin and the sinister war crisis that has terrorized the world.

Similarly, Clay's friends say he has proof to show he was over-ruled on the question of introducing the new U. S. mark in Berlin. He wanted this currency confined only to the Allied zones. Using it in Berlin, he held, would be sure to lead to Russian retaliation.

Clay presented his arguments to the state department, and its economic experts agreed with him. They wrote a memorandum backing Clay. But the political division of the department overruled the economists and quashed their memo. Instead, Clay was ordered to send the new money into Berlin.

STRIPPED

The homey whitticisms of former Under-Secretary A. Lee Wiggins are missed around the treasury department. Although one of the most successful bankers in the country, there is nothing stuffy about the shrewd, genial South Carolinian. He has a way of explaining the most obtuse subject in a simple and graphic manner.

On one occasion he was asked the difference between a deflation and a recession.

"A deflation," he said, "is a condition where people have to tighten their belts, while a recession is a case of losing your belt and having to hold up your pants with your hands."

"What about a depression?" "That," said Wiggins, "is when you have a belt but no pants."

HOT POTATO

Privately, Republican leaders make no bones about sweating over the displaced persons issue.

The failure of the special session to revise the D. P. admittance act, denounced by President Truman as "anti-Semitic and anti-Catholic," may cost the G. O. P. one senator and a lot of votes in key states.

That's why Sen. Alexander Wiley, Wis., chairman of the Senate judiciary committee, issued his assurance that the law would be liberalized by the new Congress. There will be more such promises.

Both Governor Dewey and Governor Warren will make similar pledges during forthcoming electioneering speeches.

Dewey is already on record for liberalizing the law. He tried to get the special session to do that. But one senator blocked it. He was Sen. Chapman Revercomb, R. W. Va., co-author of the law. He stubbornly refused to permit the measure to be reconsidered.

Revercomb's obduracy may cost him his seat. Already facing tough opposition from former Sen. Matt Neely, Revercomb's recalcitrance on the D. P. issue is sure to cost him a lot of otherwise friendly votes.

ECONOMICS

The public affairs institute is being swamped with requests for its latest brochure, titled "Facts on Inflation," an analysis of the current economic situation.

The steel industry is roaring toward a new production record this year. In the first six months it turned out over 33,000,000 tons of steel. If this pace is kept up for the remainder of the year, the total will top the 63,251,000-ton record in 1944. . . If gold imports continue a' their current rate and the amount of currency in circulation continues to decrease as it has been doing this year, the U. S. within 18 months will have $1 of actual gold for every $1 in circulation.

Present currency in circulation is $27,900,000,000; present gold stock $23,400,000,000. . . The rediscount rate of Federal Reserve banks is headed for a boost. This is the rate these banks charge other banks that borrow money from them. . . The Federal Security agency has over 925,000 names on its rolls eligible for old age and survivors pensions, but who are not drawing them because of failure to apply. Anyone over 65 who has paid social security taxes and is earning less than $14.99 a month is entitled to such payments. But the initiative is up to the individual. Last year, FSA paid out $483,000,000 to 1,975,000 beneficiaries.

SALE DELAYEDCity Of Manistique To Be Among Bidders

The mortgage foreclosure sale of the plant and fixtures of the defunct Hiawatha Metal Products Company, to satisfy a mortgage held by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, has been postponed and will now be held on Oct. 7, at 10:30 o'clock. The original date had been Sept. 3. The postponement was made by a court decree issued August 26.

The disposition of this property is expected to draw a large number of bidders because the building is of substantial fireproof construction, well lighted, air conditioned, and ideal in every way for a factory of moderate size.

The equipment, which will be offered for sale separately from the building, will also attract many bidders.

Certain to be among the bidders for the building will be the City of Manistique. At a recent meeting of the city council, Mayor Burns asserted that he had from the start regarded this building as desirable for a municipal building. The rest of the council expressed agreement in the sentiment. It was asserted at the council meeting that the present municipal building, while adequate in most respects, is little less than a fire trap and should the structure at any time be destroyed by fire, many important records would be lost because vault space for records is inadequate.

The Hiawatha building is practically fireproof.

Kiner Ahead Of Ruth's Record Pace, But--?

Season's Sailing Finale Here Saturday Afternoon

A special handicap race for small boats will be sailed over the Escanaba Yacht club's triangular course starting at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon. The winner will receive a trophy presented by John Mitchell, former owner of the 6-metre sloop Oslo. A skipper's meeting is planned for 1:15 p. m. at the harbor-master's to discuss conditions and handicaps. With a limit of 22 feet length, local boats eligible for the race include Dick Hoyer's "Suzy", a 19-foot super-x class; the 20-foot "Ammersee" owned by the Mc-Kie brothers; "Trio", a heavily constructed gull class boat owned by Al St. Pierre, as well as the four seagull class boats that participated in the summer series. Handicaps will be on a percentage of the time of the fastest boat, based on studies of the results of the summer series as well as observations of the abilities of the different boats.

The regatta committee of the EYC plans the Mitchell trophy to be perpetual, raced for in this class each season after the regular race series is over. The winner will hold the trophy for one year. The Saturday afternoon race is expected to be the last of the season, with the Autumn regatta, the 21-mile race and the Garden Bay race "gone by the board" for this year. This is caused by the shortage of large universal and cruising boats in the local fleet, a condition that is not expected to improve for some time because of higher purchase, maintenance and operating costs.

Pirate Ace Has Rapped 35 Homers

Ralph Might Have a Go At Wilson's Mark

By Joe Reichler
Associated Press Sports Writer

Ralph Kiner, making his second stab in two seasons at Babe Ruth's record of 60 home runs, is ahead of his pace of a year ago when he crashed 51 round trippers.

The slugging Pittsburgh outfielder yesterday banged his 35th round tripper in 115 games to help the Bucs sweep a doubleheader from the Philadelphia Phillies, 11-5 and 4-1. The twin triumph enabled the Pirates to regain fourth place from the New York Giants by a full game.

Pittsburgh trails the National league leading Boston Braves by 4 1/2 games.

Last year Kiner hit 32 home runs in Pittsburgh's first 115 games. A strong finisher, Ralph has an outside chance of catching the Babe, but he'll have to travel at an extraordinary pace. He must hit at the rate of five home runs every eight games.

Kiner's chances of equalling Hack Wilson's National league home run record of 56 are much brighter.

The Boston Red Sox recaptured first place from the Cleveland Indians in their tense struggle for the American league flag, defeating the Tribe, 8-4. A five-run eighth inning rally, which included Bobby Doerr's three-run homer, snapped a 3-3 tie and shoved the Red Sox a half game in front of the Indians.

Ed Stewart squeezed home Al Kozar with the run that gave the Washington Senators an 8-7 victory over the St. Louis Browns in the only night game in the American league.

The Redbirds moved into second place, a half game in front of the Brooklyn Dodgers, by sweeping a day-night doubleheader from the New York Giants in St. Louis. The Cards won the afternoon portion of the twin bill, 7-2, then came back to win the arclight tussle, 7-5.

Joe Hatten pitched Brooklyn to a 6-1 triumph over Cincinnati. It was Brooklyn's ninth win without a loss at Crosley field, and Hatten's fifth over the Reds. Pee Wee Reese clouted a two-run homer off loser Kent Peterson.

As Concession To Old Age, Evans To Use Longer Clubs

Chicago, Aug. 26 (P)—Two-time champion Charles (Chick) Evans, Jr., who hasn't missed playing in the National Amateur golf meet since 1907, will be swinging extra-long clubs in "a stubborn experiment" at the 1948 Amateur at Memphis next week. The 58-year-old Evans left on his "sentimental journey" to Memphis today with a bagful of 4-foot woods and irons—five inches longer than average—and smilingly conceded he would be "a surprise or an awful flop" in his 35th tourney appearance.

Johnson's Triple Enables Yankees To Tip Sox, 6-2

New York, Aug. 27 (P)—Billy Johnson's two-run triple sparked a five-run eighth inning rally that enabled the New York Yankees to come from behind and down the Chicago White Sox, 6-2 yesterday.

The only reason this isn't the 41st straight year genial Chick Evans, Jr., who hasn't missed playing in the National Amateur golf meet since 1907, will be swinging extra-long clubs in "a stubborn experiment" at the 1948 Amateur at Memphis next week. The 58-year-old Evans left on his "sentimental journey" to Memphis today with a bagful of 4-foot woods and irons—five inches longer than average—and smilingly conceded he would be "a surprise or an awful flop" in his 35th tourney appearance.

Evans admitted that his experiment this year with extra-long sticks—"everybody is laughing at it"—is a concession to old age. "Everybody over 50 ought to play with longer clubs," said Evans. "Since I started with this April, I haven't even had a twinge of my old back trouble."

Evans, playing in five competitive events this year, has been shooting between 72 and 76. He didn't cause any of the favorites to lose sleep in the North-South, U. S. Open, Western Open, Tam O'Shanter All-American or the Chicago Amateur, but Chick says that's because he was polishing up with his lanky sticks.

Bears (All Five Of Them) In Tie For Rainbow Lead

Although beset by player difficulties that have caused forfeiture of their last two games, the Escanaba Bears are still tied for the southern division lead in the Rainbow league and may get into the playoffs after all.

This was made possible when Chatham tipped Gladstone, 7-4, Wednesday, thus tying Gladstone with Escanaba at eight wins and five losses each. Gladstone and Escanaba will play off for the southern title next week, the date to be announced later.

Pirate Ace Has Rapped 35 Homers

Ralph Might Have a Go At Wilson's Mark

By Joe Reichler
Associated Press Sports Writer

Ralph Kiner, making his second stab in two seasons at Babe Ruth's record of 60 home runs, is ahead of his pace of a year ago when he crashed 51 round trippers.

The slugging Pittsburgh outfielder yesterday banged his 35th round tripper in 115 games to help the Bucs sweep a doubleheader from the Philadelphia Phillies, 11-5 and 4-1. The twin triumph enabled the Pirates to regain fourth place from the New York Giants by a full game.

Evans admitted that his experiment this year with extra-long sticks—"everybody is laughing at it"—is a concession to old age. "Everybody over 50 ought to play with longer clubs," said Evans. "Since I started with this April, I haven't even had a twinge of my old back trouble."

Hal's Arm Sore; Weather Is Hot; Tiges Lose, 4-3

Washington, Aug. 27 (P)—Slender Bill Pierce, the Highland Park, Mich., southpaw, was named to go after his second win of the season today as the Detroit Tigers opened a two game series at Griffith Stadium as they continue their final eastern road trip of 948.

The Bengals closed out their three game set with the Athletics at Philadelphia yesterday, dropping the finale 4 to 3 as sore-armed Hal Newhouser ran into trouble again.

It marked the third straight time that Newhouser has been beaten while gunning for his 16th win of the year.

The 100-plus temperature at Shibe Park bothered Newhouser quite a bit and wildness also hurt his cause as the Mackmen took their only win of the series. The box score:
